What we think about ourselves and what others may think about us could be very different. As you look at your career path so far, what has been the key behaviors that have propelled your success? Are those the same things that will carry you further down your career path? Who is in control of your career? I hope it is you.

Why should you be picked for the next promotion?

Paranet's Member Leadership Day is designed to help you control your career path by looking at yourself, through the eyes of your people and assessing your place in the organization.

Morning Session: Guided by Ann Manning and Rose Meagher, you will learn how to develop and enhance your leadership brand. You will develop a "high impact development plan" to achieve career aspirations.
